Treacle Tarts

Ingredients: Frozen Pastry or Pie Dough (the kind you can roll out), 2 cups light corn syrup (or golden syrup), 2 2/3 cups white bread crumbs, zest of 2 lemons & 1 orange, 2 tbs lemon juice (or to taste), 1 tsp ground ginger.

Directions:
Prepare dough first, according to instructions on box. Place into 7-inch tart pan (with removable bottom if you can), leaving some overhang. Prick dough with fork several times. Cover with plastic wrap and leave in refrigerator until filling is ready. You will need extra dough for the top.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. On low heat, warm 1 ½ cups corn syrup in a non-reactive saucepan (anything but copper or aluminum) until it thins and becomes more liquid. Remove from heat and add bread crumbs, zest, lemon juice and ginger. Let stand until bread crumbs absorb liquid, about 10 minutes. After this, the mixture should be soft and sticky. Add remaining corn syrup if it’s too thick. Spoon into pastry lined pan.

Roll out extra dough and cut into 10 strips about 7 inches long and ¾ inch wide. Lay 5 strips across top (leaving space in between) and the remaining 5 strips perpendicularly (to for lattice pattern). Bake for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 350 degrees, and bake for another 10-15 minutes (until pastry is brown). Serve plain or with whipped cream.
